

The first newsletter for 2005 & I take this opportunity to wish our millions of readers "Good golfing in 2005". Graham Bryant has demanded this Newsletter just to report on Tony Failla's bad day; his drive hit a tee marker, bounced back & hit his leg, another shot hit a moving tram then grazed a car. After that he went bad.

Some results:- 2/1/05 Stableford.

A&B winner :- Richard Ghiller [18] 44 points.

9 holers :- Len Crooke [24] 20 points.

9/1/05. Par

A&B winner :- Jonathan Holmes [18] + six.

9 holers :- Denise Hilton [37] + 1.

16/1/05 Stableford.

A&B winner :- James Holmes [6] 39 points.

9 holers :- Olive Sweeney [33] 25 points.

23/1/05. First Monthly Medals. Stroke.

A&B winner :- David Lucas. [6] 59.

9 holers :- Tony McMahon [14] 31

Just a few comments on the above mentioned stars :- Richard was upset that his name was spelt wrong in the paper. His team cannot win anything but Len proved Pie supporters could win at golf.

Jonathan had a lot more sleep than other 18 holers and Denise's win was sheer class, there were a few remarks made of how quick her results were put on the web site.

James Holmes deserved his victory; after all he did the bookwork and made speeches and must have played good golf also. Olive's great win cost her dearly, the handicapper really made her pay.

David won a Monthly Medal and is still moaning about not playing Better, if you want to discuss my game, see me behind the bar on Sunday.

A warm welcome to Gino, Mario and Rob. Anderson, hope they enjoy their golf at Royal Park. Steph. and John deserted their country estate to visit us and Geoff and Nancy Dam are back from their annual safari, Ask Geoff about his white wine diet.

There is no truth in that nasty story about Mick spitting the dummy and no truth Billy about Sam C. using a driver, driver, putter on a par three, and no truth about Tony M. and a tram full of people.

Sam Cummaudo is leading the Alpha-Bet sweep.

Who is the Royal Park identity that was known around Chewton/Maldon Years ago as "The Gummy Crooner?"
